The Health Insurance Reform Project (HIRP), a nonprofit, nonpartisan organization at the George Washington University was founded in 1995 to foster improvements in health insurance and health care. HIRP is currently co-located with the National Health Policy Forum.

The papers developed by HIRP staff and consultants are intended to stimulate discussion of emerging trends and policy proposals. As a courtesy to the health policy community, the National Health Policy Forum makes available on its Web site (www.nhpf.org) papers published solely by HIRP.
